
NEWS ADVISORY

FREE ENERGY SAVINGS WORKSHOP

Learn how to save money through energy conservation

September 2, 2008 (Utica, NY) – As the heating season approaches, many consumers are concerned about the rising fuel and energy costs affecting their bottom line.

The UNHS NeighborWorks® HomeOwnership Center and the New York State Power Authority are presenting a FREE workshop titled, “How to Save Money by Saving Energy” to teach consumers some basic tips and habits that will save them money on their energy bills.

- WHAT: FREE Workshop – How to Save $ by Saving Energy
- WHEN: Wednesday, September 17, 2008 from 10 to 11 a.m.
- WHERE: Parkway Community/Senior Center (Ski Chalet at the Val Bialis Ski Resort) Memorial Parkway and Oneida Street
- WHO: Ann Cianfrocco from NYS Power Authority
- HOW: RSVP by calling The HomeOwnership Center at (315) 724-4197

Pre-registration is required -- anyone interested in attending should call The HomeOwnership Center at 724-4197 to RSVP.

The workshop is part of a series of Financial Literacy Workshops offered by the HomeOwnership Center, which is located at 1611 Genesee Street, Utica NY 13501. For more information about this or future workshops, please call 724-4197.

Chartered in 1979, The HomeOwnership Center has been the leader in housing initiatives for over 29 years. Through various programs such as Home Buyer Education, Financial Literacy and Pre-purchase Counseling, the certified and trained staff at HOC help serve low- to moderate-income families in Oneida, Herkimer and Madison counties.

###

If you would like more information on this topic, or to schedule an interview, please contact Julie Howarth at (315) 724-4197 or email Julie at jhowarth@unhs.org